

Gamelan

Lawrence University is extremely fortunate to own an entire set of Balinese gamelan instruments. The term 'gamelan' refers to an ensemble of traditional percussion keyed instruments, gongs, drums, and bamboo flutes from Indonesia. The music is taught by rote and committed directly to memory, allowing for a high degree of interaction between musicians. No prior musical experience required! This is a great opportunity to learn about another culture through its music. The intergenerational (ages 9 through adult; under 9 with parent) gamelan ensemble meets weekly each semester to explore and experience this unique form of music-making.

I Dewa Ketut Alit Adnyana, instructor, is an internationally esteemed performer and teacher of Balinese instrumental music. Dewa graduated from the Conservatory of Indonesian Musical Arts (SMKI) in 1999. Dedicated to the continuation of traditional Balinese music education, Dewa is a founding member and one of the core teachers of Gamelan Çudamani, one of the premiere gamelan troupes from Bali, and has toured multiple times with Çudamani to the U.S., Canada, Japan, Italy, and Greece.

Dewa teaches at the Çudamani Summer Institute for Music and Dance in Bali, and has had private students from the U.S., Canada, Japan, and the U.K. since 2000. Dewa is sought after for his clear and systematic teaching methods. Since 1998, he has been invited to teach gong kebyar, angklung, and gamelan semarandana repertoire to men's, women's, and children's gamelans across southern Bali in preparation for their performances at temple ceremonies and festival competitions.
