A warm welcome to the Lawrence family

I am pleased to welcome you to the Lawrence community! The beginning of a new academic year is rejuvenating for all of us who work on a college campus, and the arrival of your son or daughter signals the start of another exciting year for our faculty, staff, administration and students.

As a parent or guardian of a college student, you play a very important role in the transition your son or daughter will undergo. Although we focus a great deal of attention on individual students and their transition to a new living and learning environment, I also recognize that sending a child to college is a major event in the life of other family members. You undoubtedly are experiencing a range of emotions as you make every effort to “let go” so that your son or daughter can assume responsibility as a capable and confident adult in a new phase of life.

I encourage you to remain an active participant in your son or daughter’s education. The interest, encouragement and support you provide make a very big difference on those days when a paper is overdue, an audition did not go well, a friendship is struggling or winter in Wisconsin has become too familiar. Most importantly, I hope you will share in the joy and sense of accomplishment as your son or daughter sets and reaches goals not previously imagined or takes on a new leadership role that will impact our whole community.

This guide for parents is intended to be a resource for you both now and throughout the years your student is enrolled at Lawrence. I welcome your comments and suggestions about its content and usefulness. My staff and I look forward to meeting you and working closely with our newest Lawrentians.

Sincerely,

Nancy Truesdell
Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Students

Lawrence at a Glance

Academic Program

The Lawrence curriculum promotes exposure to a wide range of subject matter and intellectual approaches. It also calls for the focused study of a single area of knowledge. Within this general framework, the student exercises wide latitude in building a course of study. A Lawrence education, then, results from considered choices. The college provides ample room for such choices and encourages students to make well-considered decisions.

Lawrence provides its students with an opportunity to work in the major academic areas in ways that best suit their interests, talents and plans. Most students major in a single discipline. Some elect interdisciplinary majors, while some students design their own majors. Others pursue multiple majors or the five-year double-degree program leading to both the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Music degrees. Most students select a major during the sophomore year, after they have had an opportunity to sample course work in a variety of disciplines. Once they have determined a major, they consult with their major advisors and plan their future academic programs.

Academic Calendar

Lawrence operates on an academic calendar featuring three terms of 10 weeks each. Although students only spend 10 weeks in a term, each course includes the same amount of material as would be found in a more traditional 15-week semester; thus, most students take a full load of three courses per term. The pace of our academic term leaves little room for students to procrastinate, and students are encouraged to stay on top of their work.

Academic Advising

Each Lawrentian has a faculty advisor who helps the student plan and pursue a program of study. Although responsibility for a Lawrence education rests primarily with the student, the faculty advisor may assist the student in gaining self-understanding, planning an appropriate schedule, thinking about career possibilities and learning to profit from the resources of the college and conservatory. The associate dean of faculty for student academic services considers academic interests and goals when assigning a new student to a faculty advisor. It is not always possible to match a new student with an advisor in the student's initially identified area of study, but all faculty are able to provide new students with guidance and support as they begin their studies. It is expected that a new student will remain with this advisor for at least the first academic year. After that, a student may change a faculty advisor at any time by completing a simple form that requires only the signature of the new advisor. Advisor change forms are available from student academic services (Briggs Hall) and the registrar's office (Brokaw Hall). If the student wishes to change advisors or is notified that the advisor will be gone from campus for an extended period of time and is unsure of how to find a new advisor, the associate or assistant dean of faculty for student academic services will assist the student in selecting an appropriate replacement.

After meeting with an advisee, the advisor releases the advisee hold on registration. This release indicates that the advisor has had the opportunity to provide the student with the benefit of his or her advice and counsel. Advisors may not release the advising hold if the student has not discussed plans. In addition to consultation with the academic advisor, students may consult with any member of the faculty as well as staff in student academic services for supplementary academic advising.

Honor Code

As stated in its charter: "To help maintain an atmosphere of mutual trust and confidence among students and faculty and to ensure that each student is judged solely according to his or her own merits, the Lawrence University community established the Honor Code: No Lawrence student will unfairly advance his or her own academic performance or in any way limit or impede the academic pursuits of other students of the Lawrence community."

The Lawrence University community firmly believes in the academic atmosphere that this Honor Code is intended to ensure. Students are therefore expected to affirm the values embodied in the Honor Code and to report suspected violations. The Honor Code is described fully on the Honor Council and Lawrence University websites, and in brochures distributed to students.

Lawrence at a Glance

Björklunden Seminars

Lawrence offers a wide variety of weekend seminars and retreats at Björklunden vid Sjön (“Birch Forest by the Water”) to supplement and enhance learning opportunities for students. Björklunden is Lawrence’s northern campus, a 405 acre estate offering meadows, woods, and more than a mile of unspoiled Lake Michigan waterfront, located near the village of Baileys Harbor in Door County, Wisconsin. Given to the university in 1963 by Winifred and Donald Boynton with the understanding that it would be preserved as a place of peace and contemplation, Björklunden serves as an ideal retreat setting for students, faculty, and staff, providing the solace to explore and to reflect upon ideas and their consequences.

Seminar participants typically depart following dinner on Friday evening and return to campus on Sunday afternoon in time for dinner. Students are required to utilize university transportation and travel with their group. All meals and lodging are furnished to the student at no charge.

Student Records

As a parent, you should know that Lawrence faculty and staff are not free to discuss your student’s academic progress with you without her or his knowledge and consent. This is an important and notable departure from the routine teacher-parent conferences conducted at elementary and secondary schools. During Fall Festival (Family Weekend) and at other times when you are visiting campus, faculty and staff would be happy to talk with you and provide information about the academic program, academic and social regulations, academic and other support services, procedures, and policies. Such information can make your conversations with your son or daughter more productive and meaningful. We strongly encourage you to discuss your expectations for being kept informed of academic progress and other matters with your son or daughter before the academic year begins.

Access to information contained in student education records is governed by the federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). The act accords students certain rights with respect to their education records: the right to inspect the contents of education records, the right to request amendments to education records, the right to consent to disclosure of the content of education records (except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent) and the right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education about alleged failure of an institution to comply with the law. When a student reaches the age of 18 or enrolls in a postsecondary institution, the rights granted under FERPA are no longer shared with parents or guardians, but are granted solely to the student. Information about FERPA, and the circumstances under which information contained in their records will be released to others, is contained in the online Student Handbook and also sent to each student at the beginning of every term.

With these rights also come obligations and responsibilities. Lawrence University does not automatically send information about academic progress or disciplinary actions to parents or guardians. It is the student’s responsibility to communicate such matters to family members, and others, as needed. The vast majority of Lawrence students communicate their academic progress to their parents directly, but some choose to sign a release authorizing the university to send copies of grade reports and academic action letters to parents and other parties. At any time students also can request a copy of their full academic record be sent to parents or other parties and may give permission in writing for deans and professors to discuss their academic work with others. Parents who want access to education records without authorization from the student must provide the registrar with a certified copy of their most recent federal tax return showing the student’s dependent status before information can be released and should know that the student will be informed of the release of information. Students who need to report their academic progress or enrollment status to other parties, such as scholarship foundations, graduate schools or prospective employers, must submit a written request to the registrar’s office before a transcript or other documentation containing non-directory information (see below) will be released.

The vice president for student affairs and dean of students or designee reserves the right to contact a parent or legal guardian to disclose information about any violation of federal, state or local law or any university policy governing the use or possession of alcohol or a controlled substance. The decision to contact a parent or legal guardian will be based on professional staff’s review of an incident(s) for pattern and severity in a student’s behavior.

Lawrence at a Glance

Under FERPA, information designated by Lawrence as directory information may be released without written consent, unless the student requests non-disclosure. Directory information includes such items as name, address, telephone number, dates of attendance, class, degree(s) conferred, field of study, participation in sports and activities, honors and awards, email address and photographs. Students may request non-disclosure of any of these items at any time.

FERPA sets the minimum standards for release of information from education records but does not prohibit institutions from according additional rights in this regard to students. Lawrence has created additional internal procedures to help ensure the privacy and safety of students. Local addresses, phone numbers and expected location of students in attendance are not released to callers or individuals who are not members of the campus community except as required by federal and state laws. Students anticipating visitors should make arrangements in advance to meet their guests. In an emergency, requests for information about students should be referred to the vice president for student affairs and dean of students.

If you have questions regarding student education records, you may contact the vice president for student affairs and dean of students (college programs and regulations), the associate dean of faculty for student academic services (curriculum, academic support services, academic progress) or the registrar (academic records, enrollment and other verifications, and FERPA).

Off-Campus Programs

Off-campus study provides an invaluable opportunity to hone and extend the intellectual skills and capacity for civic and political engagement associated with a Lawrence liberal arts education by placing students in educational settings that purposefully combine classroom and experiential learning. In such settings students are challenged to apply and interrogate what has been learned on the home campus and to evaluate the possibilities of alternate perspectives and modes of inquiry.

Off-campus study also provides a rich opportunity for personal growth as students gain independence and self-confidence through active engagement with social and cultural practices different than their own and/or through the experience of educational or research settings whose pedagogical approaches and curricular structures differ from those at Lawrence.

Lawrence currently offers 57 off-campus study programs (47 international and 10 domestic), located around the world and throughout the United States. Details of the program offerings, as well as listing of the specific policies governing participation in off-campus study, are available on the Lawrence website: www.lawrence.edu/academics/offcampus.

Living on Campus

In an effort to extend the liberal arts mission beyond the classroom, Lawrence students live on campus and reside in one of our residence halls, group houses, small houses or theme houses. As a residential campus, all full-time students are expected to live on campus throughout their course of study. Exemptions are granted to students who have been Lawrence students for four academic years, students beginning their fifth year or later after high school, married students, students in documented domestic partnerships and students with dependent children. Students meeting any of these requirements should submit a written request for an exemption to the dean of students. Housing charges will be cancelled only after reasons are verified. Off-campus students must keep the registrar's office informed of their addresses and phone numbers.

On-campus facilities include coeducational residence halls. Six of the halls house freshmen and upper-class students, while one is reserved for upper-class students. All Lawrence residences are smoke-free and one residence hall is designated substance free, prohibiting the use of alcohol. A small residence hall for women is available for upper-class students. Small residences and houses (older homes converted for student housing) provide upper-class students the opportunity to live and work together around a common theme or to live in a group setting.

Lawrence Residence Halls

Living on campus provides some of the most memorable moments of a student's college experience. Therefore, it is important to the residential mission that our halls provide an exciting environment for living and learning. It is the mission of the residence life department to provide students with opportunities to initiate and participate in educational programs outside of the classroom, a wide array of leadership experiences and a full calendar of social activities. Students learn to live with people who are very similar to themselves as well as those with different backgrounds. As students become an active part of this community, they come to know themselves as never before.

At Lawrence, we encourage students to become members of a close-knit community. Each residence hall reflects the interests of the students who live there and students make decisions about their hall environment such as the establishment of hall quiet hours. We consider living on campus an opportunity to augment classroom learning and believe that residential living is a vital part of a student's development.

The campus life staff is responsible for educational and social programming in residence halls, opening and closing procedures, and the general operation of the halls. The student housing office is responsible for the initial assignment of students to residence hall rooms, computer data entry of housing information during the academic year and operation of the housing lottery by which continuing students select rooms.

Hall Features

Soon after students move into their rooms, their residence hall becomes their "home away from home." Each student room is furnished with basic furniture for each resident, including a bed, desk and desk chair, dresser, wastebasket, and closet or wardrobe. Some rooms include sinks, mirrors, lounge chairs, lamps and bookshelves. All rooms are equipped with smoke detectors. The construction of homemade lofts is not allowed. Students will need to bring their own bed linens, blankets, pillows, towels and hangers.

Other Features:

- TV and study lounges
- computer labs
- fireplaces
- kitchens/microwaves
- leadership opportunities
- laundry facilities
- wired and wireless computer connections

Residence Life Staff

Each residence hall is staffed by a residence hall director who has a special interest and training in residence education. The residence hall director oversees the general operation of the hall, supervises the residence life advisors in the building, works closely with the hall council to plan programs and activities, and is available to help with personal problems that may arise throughout the year. The residence hall director lives in the building in order to be accessible and available to help students.

Residence halls are also staffed with residence life advisors (RLAs), students carefully selected and trained to provide peer assistance to the residents of the hall. Residence life staff members are available to provide advice, support, and direction to all residential students. The custodial staff in each building maintains public areas and provides cleaning supplies to students for their use. Students are encouraged to report maintenance needs to residence hall staff.

Finally, Lawrence believes that residence hall living is the first step in making a life transition. As such, it is important to allow students to be active leaders in their community and participants in self-governance opportunities. Lawrence students value these opportunities as a part of their learning experience and utilize them to contribute meaningfully to their living environment.

Student Accounts and Cashier

Student accounts and the cashier are located on the first floor of Brokaw Hall.

Services provided by the cashier and student accounts include the following:

- payment of tuition and fees
- check cashing (up to $50)
- short-term loans
- issuing keys (other than residence halls)
- notary public
- student account inquiries

Technology Services

Technology Services provides a variety of support services for Lawrence's computer technology systems and facilities. Centered on the second floor of the Seeley G. Mudd Library, the staff includes a user services team that maintains and configures computers, ensures problems and questions are addressed in a timely manner and researches new hardware for the campus. A Helpdesk, staffed by students and professional staff, responds to a variety of questions from campus users. The Information Technology Center (ITC) located in Library 214, provides state-of-the-art teaching and laboratory facilities. In addition, specialized labs and facilities are available throughout academic buildings. Additional staff provides network, database management and web services.

Each of Lawrence's seven major residence halls contains a public lab of networked computers, a networked laser printer and a telephone. Facilities are accessible 24 hours per day. Each student receives a personal computer account to access and use the Lawrence network e-mail, and access the Internet.

The standard format for an email address is:

<First Name.Middle Initial.Last Name@lawrence.edu>.

For example, Susan R. Smith's address would be susan.r.smith@lawrence.edu. Students can also use personal computers in their residence hall rooms. Technology Services accepts either Macintosh or Windows compatible computers on the network.

Technology Services is able to obtain academic discounts for many software packages and these discounts may be extended to students. Lawrence is part of the Apple Campus Direct, Dell and HP programs that enable purchases of hardware at discounted prices. For more information, contact Technology Services at helpdesk@lawrence.edu, call 920-832-6570 or see our website at: www.lawrence.edu/dept/its.

Student Conduct

Lawrence University is a residential academic community, and its rules and regulations are designed to protect and promote a learning environment and to control behavior that infringes on the rights and freedoms of community members. A college education is academic and intellectual in nature and includes the development of social and ethical attitudes and values that encourage mature, responsible behavior. Students are encouraged to resolve differences and conflicts through rational discussion and mutual respect. When such resolution is not possible, students may avail themselves of various judicial procedures, depending upon the situation.

Judicial Procedures

- Grievance Procedures: staff-mediated process
- Judicial Board: peer review process with formal hearing format
- Honor Council: formal peer review of academic dishonesty issues

Judicial procedures may be initiated by students according to the guidelines and instructions provided on the Lawrence website.

Issues of sexual assault and sexual harassment are handled through a separate process, also outlined on the Lawrence website. Students with concerns regarding sexual assault or sexual harassment may consult with a member of the faculty or staff specially trained to assist students and clarify options. The process provides for individual counseling, anonymous reporting or filing of a formal complaint. Whenever complaints are filed, an independent consultant retained by the college conducts a thorough investigation and makes recommendations to the appropriate officials. When any party involved is dissatisfied with an investigation or its outcomes, a hearing of the sexual assault/sexual harassment hearing board may be convened.

Lawrence at a Glance

Student Employment

The Lawrence student employment program provides assistance to both students and campus employers in meeting employment needs. The financial aid office (Brokaw Hall) oversees this program and maintains an online listing of open positions at <http://go.lawrence.edu/studentwork>. On-campus employment positions are limited and preference is given to students who have a Federal Work-Study or campus employment award in their financial aid package. Students who have been awarded work in their package should seek employment opportunities as soon as possible after their arrival on campus.

Parking

Parking on campus is very limited. Students, faculty and staff share access to most college parking lots. Students must register any car they bring to campus with the Facility Services office. There is no charge for registration. Guests may obtain temporary parking permits and may park in visitor parking lots as marked. A lottery is held each term, based on seniority, through which some students may obtain permission to park in 24-hour student lots. Other students may park in faculty-staff lots overnight and on weekends but must vacate during the workday. The university has an arrangement with the City of Appleton whereby students can park their cars in a downtown ramp.

Overnight parking is prohibited on city streets between 2 a.m. and 5 a.m. or during a snow emergency under special conditions when declared by city officials.

Campus Mail Delivery

All student mail is delivered to and picked up from the Warch Campus Center. Student mail should be addressed as follows:

Student Name
711 E Boldt Way, SPC # (insert mailbox number)
Appleton WI 54911

There is no mail delivery to residence halls or college-owned houses and small apartments.

Telephones on Campus

Students need to provide their own means for making personal local and long-distance telephone calls from the Lawrence campus. Hallway and outside phones permit calling to on-campus, local area and toll free numbers. Many other options, from the simplest to the more complex and/or expensive options are listed at:
<http://go.lawrence.edu/studentphone>

In some cases, using more than one of these solutions may be the best approach. If you have questions about phone services, please contact the Technology Services Helpdesk at helpdesk@lawrence.edu or 920-832-6570.

Student Services

Dean of Students Office

The vice president for student affairs and dean of students is responsible for co-curricular and extracurricular activities, residential and campus life, housing, multicultural affairs, the Diversity Center, the Warch Campus Center, international student services, career services, security, dining services, volunteer and community service, counseling and health services, and wellness programs.

In addition to overseeing the operations of the division, the dean of students initiates and develops policies and procedures, works with various university committees and groups to enhance campus life, and administers campus disciplinary processes. The dean serves as advisor to the judicial board and effects liaison with local authorities.

Campus Life

The campus life office advises students about their residential, co-curricular and extracurricular interests; advises student organizations; manages student organization facilities; and advises the Lawrence University Community Council.

The campus life office coordinates the staff in the residence halls, including residence hall directors, residence life advisors, residence life managers and support staff; supports residence hall councils; and facilitates educational, social, cultural and recreational programming in each of the residence halls.

The housing office is responsible for the initial assignment of new students to residence hall rooms. Once housing assignments have been made, any room change requests must be initiated with the residence hall director who works in cooperation with the housing office. The assignment of new students is made during the summer prior to matriculation. Continuing students select their rooms through a seniority-based housing selection process run by the Residence Life Committee of the Lawrence University Community Council and coordinated by the housing office.

Multicultural Affairs

The mission of the Office of Multicultural Affairs is to help provide the resources necessary for all students to express and explore culture and identity. The multicultural affairs staff engages in issues that relate to diversity and acts as a catalyst regarding academic, social, and cultural support for students.

The office operates the Diversity Center, which seeks to provide a forum by which issues of diversity and identity can be broadly addressed on campus and in the surrounding community. The office collaborates with university departments, organizations and the broader community in order to enhance programs and services for students while continually supporting the academic mission of the institution. Each year the office assists student organizations whose primary focus is cultural awareness and celebration in presenting major campus events open both to members of the campus community and visitors.

International Student Services

The Office of International Student Services, located in the International House, coordinates services for and provides support to international students. Programs and services include cultural enrichment programs and assistance with immigration documents (visas, employment-related permits and forms I-20 and DS-2019).

Student Health Services

Student Health Services is located in the Landis Health Center on the second floor of the Buchanan Kiewit Wellness Center. It is open Monday through Friday during the academic terms. A registered nurse is on duty from 7:30 a.m.–noon and 1–4:30 p.m. (M–F) for treatment of minor medical problems. There is also a physician in the health center every weekday morning from 8–8:45 a.m. for more serious complaints. Students are seen on a first-come, first-served walk-in basis.

The health center does not provide services for eye or dental care or physical therapy but is prepared to make referrals for these or other concerns to specialists in the Appleton community.

Emergencies are handled by the emergency rooms at St. Elizabeth Hospital, 1506 S. Oneida Street, 920-738-2100, or at Appleton Medical Center, 1818 N. Meade Street, 920-738-6300. Both hospitals are approximately 10 minutes from the Lawrence University campus. On weekends and holidays, students may call nursing hotlines at 920-830-6877 or 920-738-2230 for medical advice and assessment and referral of medical problems. There are Urgent Care units available at both hospitals as well as at Northland Mall inside the Shopko store (ThedaCare) and on Richmond Avenue (Affinity). Both of these are within 15 minutes of campus. Visits to local clinics or hospitals are at the student's expense.

Student Services

Students are encouraged to carry health insurance coverage for medical services beyond the scope of the health center on campus. Each student should have a copy of his or her health insurance card. The health center should have a copy of the student's insurance card as well. Students participating in intercollegiate athletics, club sports or off-campus programs must have medical insurance. International students are also required to have insurance.

Nominal fees are charged for some services at the health center. The charges will be billed to the student's account at the financial services office. There is no exchange of money at the health center.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services is the primary source of confidential counseling and psychological assistance for students. It is located in the Buchanan Kiewit Wellness Center. Counseling and outreach activities are oriented toward helping people resolve emotional difficulties, learn helpful coping skills, explore options and their consequences, set goals, and address the effects of trauma, disadvantage and substance abuse. Counseling Services staff members recognize that the campus community encompasses people with diverse ethnic, lifestyle and racial backgrounds and with a variety of special needs. They also recognize the importance of strong social connectedness among members of the campus community as a way of promoting mental health.

Counseling Services is staffed by licensed mental health professionals who are available to see enrolled students at no charge. Students schedule initial counseling appointments through the Health Center (920-832-6574). Counseling Services offers an unlimited number of scheduled appointments to students; however, in order to remain accessible to all students, counselors are not able to offer standing weekly appointments; instead students are invited to reschedule at the next mutually available time. In a few circumstances over a brief period counselors may offer to schedule a series of return appointments as needed. Daily walk-in hours are offered Monday through Friday in order to respond to urgent or crisis situations.

For after-hours psychological emergencies during the academic year, an on-call Counseling Services staff member may be called by students at 920-419-8167. Students seeking help on an emergency basis may also speak with an Outagamie County crisis worker by calling 920-832-4646, the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline at 800-273-TALK (8255) or 911.

All interactions with Counseling Services are confidential. This includes the scheduling of and attendance at appointments, content of sessions, progress in counseling and counseling records. Students may request in writing that a counseling staff member release specific information about their counseling to persons they designate, including parents. The only exceptions to confidentiality involve the imminent danger of harm to self or others, report of physical or sexual abuse involving someone under age 18, a court order and consent for treatment of minor students.

Counseling Services staff members consult with a local community psychiatrist who comes to campus on a regular basis. Appropriate referrals to community providers are made for specialized assessment and for more intensive mental health treatment when necessary. Students are responsible for the cost of any off-campus services.

The Counseling Services web page offers resources for parents: <http://go.lawrence.edu/counsel>

Career Center

The services of the Career Center are available to all students and alumni who are interested in choosing a major or applying to graduate/professional school or pursuing full-time employment, internships, and summer jobs. Students are encouraged to explore career options early in their undergraduate years and become familiar with career resources that can assist with career planning needs. Career Center services include:

- individual career advising
- interest testing/assessment (MBTI, SII, CISS)
- graduate/professional school information, including entrance examinations
- alumni networking
- internship program
- full-time employment, part-time employment and summer job listings
- job search assistance (resume/cover letter writing, practice interviewing)
- videotaped practice interviews
- on-campus recruiting and career fairs
- credential file services
- extensive career library and web resources

Dining Services

Lawrence University is a residential college, and all students are expected to live and dine on campus throughout their entire enrollment. Lawrence contracts with Bon Appétit, an onsite restaurant company to manage all campus dining. A variety of meal plans are offered including meals in the all-you-care-to-eat Andrew Commons and declining balance dollars to be spent in the Café, Coffee Shop and Corner Store. Starting with the second term of the first year students have an additional all-declining-balance meal plan option. Based on current student feedback, we expect most students will opt for one of the combination plans, options that have a combination of all-you-care-to-eat and declining balance dollars.

Security

The personal safety and security of each student, faculty, and staff member is both an individual and community concern. While the university strives to provide a campus environment free of undue risks to persons and property, it is each person's responsibility to pay attention to his or her surroundings, to avoid potentially hazardous situations and to exercise his or her own best judgment to maintain personal safety and well-being. In addition, each member of the community must call attention to conditions or situations that threaten the safety and security of others by contacting appropriate campus and/or community authorities.

Lawrence operates its own security service. The staff is comprised of six full-time officers and five part-time officers. Some years one or two students are also hired as part-time security personnel. Although these security officers have no arrest authority, they work very closely with the Appleton Police Department. Lawrence Security is in radiophone contact with the police, and the police respond promptly to all requests for assistance. In an emergency, students may contact security by calling 920-832-6999 or the police by dialing 9-911 from any campus phone including the outdoor emergency phones. Students are encouraged to report crimes to the police and to utilize other services of the police department. Officers from the Appleton Police Department speak before campus groups, train residence hall directors and residence life advisors, provide statistics on local crime, and participate in campus forums. The cooperation between the university and the police is an important element of Lawrence's campus security policy. Residence hall staff members regularly advise students, individually and collectively, to report crimes and other security issues. Lawrence security will escort students to any campus or nearby location upon request.

Volunteer and Community Service Center

Volunteer opportunities play an important role in educating students for lives of service and community responsibility. The Volunteer and Community Service Center, located in Raymond House, is committed to helping Lawrentians identify, participate in and reflect upon service opportunities. Staffed primarily by students, the office maintains resource files and a volunteer database, sponsors both one-time and long-term volunteer experiences, and facilitates the activities of student organizations dedicated to service. The Volunteer and Community Service Center values the holistic development of volunteers, supporting students, staff, and faculty in their service endeavors from preparation to evaluation.

Service projects and volunteer placements address at-risk youth, seniors, environmental issues, social justice, education, literacy, the arts and a variety of other populations and topics.

Wellness Programs

In addition to health and counseling services, Buchanan Kiewit Wellness Center is the heart of recreational and wellness activities on campus. The facility offers a cardiovascular exercise room and a weight room featuring Nautilus and Universal equipment, racquetball courts, a gymnasium with an elevated, four-lane jogging track, and Olympic-size swimming pool.

Lawrence students regularly participate in a variety of recreational, fitness and health programs including intramurals, weight training, Pilates, yoga, dance and exercise classes, and water classes.

The Buchanan Kiewit Wellness Center recognizes the importance, benefits and rewards of leading a healthy lifestyle. The center and its staff are committed to serving a diverse campus community by providing quality experiences that contribute to individuals' total well-being.

Student services

Student Academic Services

The Office of Student Academic Services provides students with information and advice about academic standing, academic credits, transfer credits (including AP/IB credit), leaves of absence and withdrawals from the university, variations on traditional courses of study, academic progress, changes in degree program and other academic matters. The associate dean of faculty for student academic services serves as advisor to the university Honor Council and can answer questions about the honor system. The office also coordinates services for students with disabilities and supervises the Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL).

The CTL includes several non-remedial peer tutorial services (at no cost). A high percentage of Lawrence students (including the majority of freshmen) use tutorial services as support for completing general education requirements and to develop their skills more broadly. Students may receive assistance from trained tutors in writing, in oral communications, in quantitative reasoning and in any course subject. In addition, students may get academic counseling and skills development in such areas as note taking, exam preparation, study habits and time management.

Parents are asked to encourage their sons and daughters to seek assistance from their academic advisors, from student academic services and from the CTL. They not only may avoid possible difficulties but also may enhance their academic experienc

Parents Association

Parents Association

All parents or guardians of a student attending Lawrence University are members of the Lawrence University Parents Association and are invited to become involved in the life of the college through participation in campus and regional activities. Many of the college's closest friends are parents of current students and alumni, and the Parents Association recognizes the important role parents play in the vitality of the institution. The Parents Association ensures that parents receive information about the college, including Lawrence Today magazine, and encourages parents to become better acquainted with Lawrence through campus and regional events. The cornerstone of these events is Fall Festival, which occurs annually in October or early November. Parents are an important component of the Lawrence family, and parents of alumni often continue to be involved with the college long after their sons and daughters leave Lawrence.

Parent Advisory Committee

The Parent Advisory Committee serves as a liaison between parents and the entire university community to strengthen the relationship between these groups. Committee members can get involved in many ways, including "adopting" a high school, hosting admitted or new student events at your home, letter writing, being a career contact and fund raising. If you would like to help with admissions recruiting, serve as a career contact or host events in your area, please contact Linda Fuerst, volunteer coordinator – Office of Alumni and Constituency Engagement, at 920-832-6853 or linda.m.fuerst@lawrence.edu.

The quality of a Lawrence education depends on generous gifts made each year to The Lawrence Fund by all members of the Lawrence family — alumni, parents, grandparents, staff and friends. On average, parents give more than $200,000 annually to The Lawrence Fund, with approximately 40 percent of current Lawrence parents making a gift to the college. Committee members spearhead the college's parent fund-raising campaign through their volunteer solicitations for The Lawrence Fund. If you are interested in peer-to-peer parent fund raising, please contact Cara Gosse, director of annual giving, at 920-832-7260 or cara.gosse@lawrence.edu.

The committee is a way for parents to become involved, meet other Lawrence families, have fun and provide tangible support for the college. The committee welcomes everyone's help.

Fall Festival

(A combination of Family Weekend and Homecoming)
Focused on the entire Lawrence family, Fall Festival provides an opportunity for family members and alumni to visit the campus and participate in a variety of activities and programs. While some programs target parents or siblings, most are open to all. Typically, families attend one or more sporting events, student performances, mini-courses by faculty and the traditional welcome by the president.

Campus and Community Resources

Campus and Community Resources

College staff members are always pleased to be of assistance to parents, within the bounds of legal limits as defined in the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. Lawrence staff share a concern for the success of our students with parents and want to work collaboratively to assure the best possible Lawrence experience for each student. When you deem it important to call a staff member, please understand that the staff member may suggest involving your student in the conversation, thus minimizing issues of confidentiality and helping your student to improve his or her use of college resources. Of course, we welcome information or expressions of concern from you and will make appropriate use of such information for the benefit of your student.

Listed below are those staff members who may be contacted about specific matters at the numbers indicated. General questions may be directed to the university switchboard at 920-832-7000 during regular business hours.
