

LAWRENTIANS IN PRINT

Winter Beach Dog Trot

In his first novel, Richard Haight '71 immerses readers into a dark comedy about greed, lust, murder, and Boston terriers on Florida's Treasure Coast. Filled with quirky Florida characters, this fast-paced murder mystery chronicles the adventures of a struggling veterinarian wrongly accused of murder.

Silent Witnesses: Civilian Camp Money of World War II

Using material from his Lawrence honors thesis, Ray Feller '04 creates a fascinating book on the history, identification, and value of money created during WWII at German concentration camps, ghettos, internment camps, and camps for displaced persons.

Blooming Women

The most recent photography book from Margaret Wright '69 celebrates the character and lives of women as demonstrated in nature with flowers.

Martha's Journey: Renascense in a Mobile Home Park

Margaret Dunn Grimm M-D'46 spins the tale of Martha, a recently widowed woman, who embarks on a life-changing 1,300-mile journey to southern Florida. There, in a mobile home park, Martha finds the humor, compassion, and friendship that will change her outlook and help her find new purpose.

Teaching Thinking

This book by Brian Beck '59 elucidates that teaching "thinking" is a vital and often overlooked educational goal compared to the usual teaching of info-to-know, ideas-to-believe, and rules to follow. It is a powerful resource for people interested in thinking well for three reasons — pragmatically, pedagogically, and pleasurably.

The Word of the Cross in a World of Glory

Philip Ruge-Jones '85 uses story and plain language to explore the transformative power of the Word of God in the midst of a society where the glory of power, prestige, profits, and certitude is substituted for God's glory as revealed in the crucified and risen Christ.

Shapeshifting with our Animal Companions: Connecting with the Spiritual Awareness of All Life

In her third book, Dawn Baumann Brunke '81 uses conversations, dreams, and merged consciousness with a variety of animals and spirit beings to reveal the vast treasure of wisdom and experiences offered to us as we open ourselves, confront and release our fears of death, and expand our sensory perception to include other modes of existence.

Horizon Chasers: The Lives and Adventures of Richard Halliburton and Paul Moody

Richard Halliburton was the quintessential world traveler of the early 20th century, when his celebrity rivaled that of Charles Lindbergh and Amelia Earhart. This biography by Gerry Max '67 records the life and adventures of Halliburton, his editor and ghost writer Paul Moody, and the productive literary collaboration between the two.

Same War Different Battlefields

In a collection of poignant stories from World War II, Jean Goodwin Messinger '51 shares first-person accounts of the bombing of Hiroshima, the London Blitz, refugees fleeing invading Russian armies, living under Nazi occupation, life in wartime Germany, Japanese American internment, German and Japanese war brides, the U.S. home front, and more.

Value-Driven Channel Strategy: A Lean Approach

Thinking "lean" as a way to reduce costs only uses a small aspect of its power. This book, co-authored by Reginald W. Goeke '69, explores a more strategic use of lean that targets processes and value streams that are directly related to enhanced business performance.
