

Welcome to the 2008-2009 Student Book List!

This list is compiled by LUCC from faculty submissions.

These submissions are voluntary, so unfortunately, books are not submitted for all classes. If you're looking for information for unsubmitted classes, please email your professors or check Conkey's Bookstore (if your class has a book, they'll have the listing posted there).

Feel free to share the information you uncover with other students by emailing it to LUCC at lucc@lawrence.edu.

NOTE: Information is not finalized until three weeks prior to the start of the term.

HOW TO READ THE BOOK LIST:

Course No.	Course Title, Professor(s)
	Book Title
	Author(s)/Editor(s)
	Publisher, Year/Edition
	ISBN

What's the next step? There are multiple ways to get your books for the term.

1. Go to the bookstore: Need your book now, or want to be sure you can find a copy? Conkey's is the best place to shop. Professors submit their lists directly to Conkey's, so the easiest way to find the books you need is at Conkey's.
2. Check the Internet: Looking for a better deal? Try online book stores, like Amazon.com and Barnes and Noble, or check out online used book stores, like Half.com or Textbooks.com.
If you want to compare online prices, go to www.campusbooks.com. The site links you to different online book stores, so you don't have to search multiple places. PLUS, they give you access to internet coupons for the different sites.
3. Ask around: Have friends, or friends of friends who have taken the class? Know someone who's in the department? Not everyone sells their books back at the end of the term – check around. Chances are you might know someone who has the exact books you're looking for.
4. Bring books from home: Some classes use books that you may already have. Check the list early, and if your class isn't posted here, email your professor. A quick email now can save you from having to ship books from home or buy new books once you're back on campus.
5. Check out the Co-op Book Sale: “Get the price right,” by selling your old books and buying your new ones in one location. Held Sunday-Thursday the first week of each term in Riverview Lounge, Co-op goes all out to provide this great service to students.
6. Be sure to shop early – this ensures that you'll have your books for the first day of class. (Early shopping also means that you can save on shipping!)

This list is updated as information comes in, so be sure to check back often!

For questions, corrections or other comments concerning the book list, please contact Christie M. McCowen, LUCC Corresponding Secretary, at mccowenc@lawrence.edu.
