

Latin American Studies Program

Elective Form

Student Name: _____

Elective courses can come from any discipline. The course to be used as an elective must allow students to focus their individual work on Latin America, and such work must count for at least 25% of the final grade for the course. Course content can change from term to term; therefore, when choosing electives it is the responsibility of the student to speak to the instructor and confirm that 25% of the graded work can be based on Latin American themes or subjects.
