General Information for Requesting a Dependency Status Override

The Higher Education Act allows a financial aid administrator to make dependency overrides on a case-by-case basis for students with unusual circumstances. A student who does not meet the federal criteria for independent status on the 2021-2022 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) may submit this form, along with supporting documentation, if they believe that unusual circumstances exist for granting them a dependency status override.

Per Federal Regulations, the following situations, in and of themselves, DO NOT automatically qualify a student as independent for financial aid purposes:

- Parents refusal or unwillingness to contribute to your education
- Parents not claiming you on their tax return
- Not living with parents
- Demonstrating student self-sufficiency

INSTRUCTIONS

To be considered for a dependency override, you must provide the information listed below, which will be held in the strictest confidence. Override requests will not be considered until all required information has been received.

- Personal Statement by Student - On a separate page, tell us in your own words about your situation. Include detailed descriptions of the events, and approximate dates of those events, that led to your independence from your family. Explain your current living situation and method of support.
- Third Party Statement - Attach a statement signed and dated from a third party (e.g. counselor, social worker, medical provider, or other professional) summarizing your unusual circumstances and knowledge concerning your relationship with your parent or parents.
- Additional Supporting Documentation (Optional) - Attach a copy of any relevant supporting documentation (e.g. court documents, legal documents, medical documents, or police reports).
