

The Jordheim Fund

Purpose of the fund

Current students at Lawrence are eligible to receive awards from The Steven H. Jordheim Endowed and Expendable Fund for Musical Exploration (the "Jordheim Fund"), and strong preference is given to students continually enrolled in saxophone study. A committee appointed by the Dean of the Conservatory will make the awards based on proposals from students. The fund is set up to be flexible and allow a wide range of research, academic and artistic efforts, faculty-student collaborations, interdisciplinary endeavors, and international travel. Funds may be used for travel, stipends for work, books, supplies, and other needs as approved by the committee. Students selected shall exhibit the highest standards in their scholarly and artistic endeavors and plan to embark on serious work in close consultation and collaboration with faculty members. The Jordheim Fund may also be used to bring distinguished saxophonists to the Lawrence campus.

Eligibility

Students applying for fund support must be enrolled in the Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Arts in Music, or Double Degree programs, with strong preference given to students continually enrolled in saxophone study. Preference is also given to students who have not previously received an award from the fund.

Application Process

Students must submit the application form (see page 2) along with a brief essay describing the project and a budget for the project.

Applications are due in the office of the Dean of the Conservatory by Wednesday, April 12, 2017 for use during the summer of 2017 or the 2017-18 academic year. Finalists will be interviewed by the committee. Recipients of awards from The Jordheim Fund must submit a brief final report to the Dean of the Conservatory within a month of completion of the project.

List any campus or community organizations you are involved with and indicate leadership roles.

Using a separate sheet or sheets of paper, please address the following:

- 1) Briefly describe the project or course of study you will pursue with assistance from The Jordheim Fund. Be creative and thoughtful – indicate not only what you want to do, but why you want to do it, why it inspires you, and how it will contribute to your development and the development of your fellow Lawrentians. Also indicate the timeframe for completing your project.
- 2) Please provide a complete budget for your project, including funding sources as well as expenses. Indicate and itemize the total costs of the endeavor, and list any other sources of funding that will be applied to the project. Finally, indicate whether you will pursue the project if you do NOT receive assistance from The Jordheim Fund.
