Reduced Course Load Authorization for F-1 Students, Final Term of Study

In order to help students maintain their nonimmigrant status and comply with federal immigration regulations, this form must be filled out and authorization obtained from the ISS advisor BEFORE any international student in F-1 status may be permitted to enroll for less than fulltime term hours (15 units).

Note: You must be enrolled for at least the number of credits needed to complete your studies. The end date of your I-20 must reflect the end of the current term. If you fail a class in your final term, your I-20 CANNOT be extended.

You must receive prior permission from ISS to reduce your course load.
Do not enroll for less than a full course load or drop below a full course load without prior permission.
Permission to reduce course load is only valid for the term indicated on application.
