Svetlana's Lullaby

Moonlit fields, night as bright as day...
Sleep, my Svetlana, sleep, as I once lay:
Nestle in the pillow's corner, nose so sweet...
Stars like freckles, softly shining down to meet.
Moonlit garden leaves in slumber rustling low.
Day will soon awaken, secrets it will show.
Candle's flame is dwindling, fading to a glow...
Sleep, my precious darling, night as bright as day.
Moonlit fields, night as bright as day...
Sleep, my Svetlana, sleep, as I once lay.
Candle's flame is dwindling, fading to a glow...
Sleep, my precious darling... night as bright as day.
Candle's flame is dwindling, fading to a glow...
Sleep, my precious darling... sleep, as I once lay.
Sleep...

Black Raven

Oh black raven
My new friend come to call,
From where in the distance
Have you flown in to me?

"I've been past the horizon
Where I came upon a warrior.
As I circled to his body
His ring glimmered in the light."

News of his blood-soaked hand
Brought bitter tears to my eyes,
For by the Don Cossack's ring
I knew whom the raven had found.

The hand was of my beloved
Fallen on the battle field,
Left there to perish
In foreign lands far away.
